The apartment is spread over 130 m² of living space and consists of a spacious hallway, three bedrooms, a kitchen with a dining room, a bathroom and two living rooms.

The apartment is very well maintained, with large windows and a ceiling of 3.8 m which gives the whole apartment a special atmosphere and a large amount of daylight.

The apartment is largely south-east oriented, with a beautiful view of the old part of the town and the bell tower of Saint Domnius, Marmont Street, and partly to the sea.

The property is currently being used for housing, is fully equipped and furnished. Although well maintained and in good condition, it requires a serious renovation project to adapt to modern times.

Unique property with a unique story and rich history that will not leave anyone indifferent.
